FOREWORD

VU

Within the pages of this yearbook, we, the class of 1954, have placed a review of the events of our high school career. In this swiftly changing world of rocket ships and space cadets, the imagination of youth is aroused to such an extent that anything seems possible. Who knows, we may indeed meet again on some other planet! Readers, it is now zero hour-minus; so prepare to blast off with us to explore the varied realms of "The Flash".

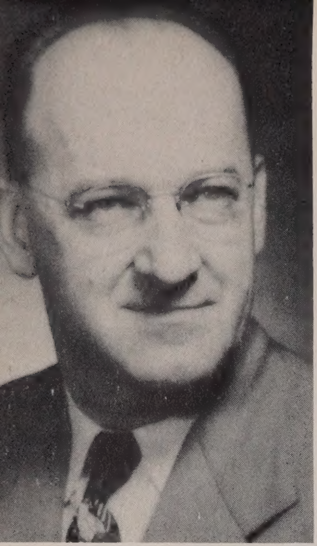
DEDICATION

We, the Senior Class of 1954, wish to dedicate this book to Miss Hattie Mae Partlow as a token of appreciation.

During our years of High School, Miss Partlow has not only been a teacher but a companion and dear friend to each and every student.



OUR ADMINISTRATORS

PLOT THE COURSE

AND DIRECT

THE PROJECT

Mr. J. M. Garber, Superintendent of Prince William County Schools, has demonstrated his ability as an administrator and leader. Under his direction, a two and one-half million dollar bond issue has been approved by the county voters, and an extensive building program has been completed. He is vitally interested in a good public relations program and better working conditions for teachers. Since his arrival in 1951, he has shown a keen interest and sympathetic attitude toward the problems of this county, and it is expected that the county school system will continue to go forward under his guidance.

Mr. T. Clay Wood, for the past two years, has been a member of the Prince William County School Board. During his short term on the board, he has shown a keen interest in the problems of the school system. He is deeply interested in the welfare of both teachers and pupils. His loyalty and friendliness have won for him many friends in the school system. Brentsville District High School salutes, Mr. Wood.

Mrs. Marie H. Reading, school secretary, impresses everyone with her patience, tirelessness and willingness to assist all who need a helping hand. Though one of the busiest persons at B. D. H. S., she has time for the tiniest tot as well as teachers and administrators.

Mr. D. C. Link, principal of the Brentsville District High School, and president of the Prince William County Education Association, has been directing the activities at B. D. H. S. since 1950. His administrative ability has enabled him to secure many improvements for the local school and the teaching profession. Each year adds to the respect, honor and host of friends he has in the school and community.

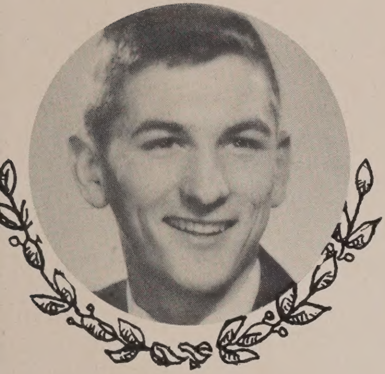
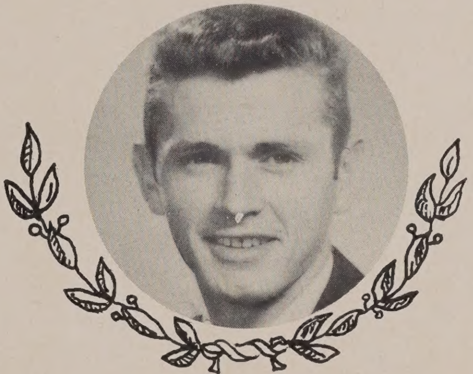
CROWNED WITH LAUREL

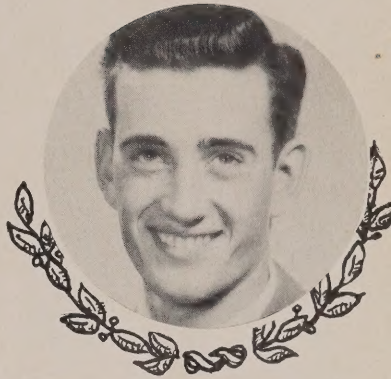
Laura Bowman was valedicatorian of the class of 1954. She acted as consul of the Latin Club and as assistant editor of the yearbook. A quiet, busy person, Laura enjoyed literature and the classics but no less interesting to her were math and the sciences.



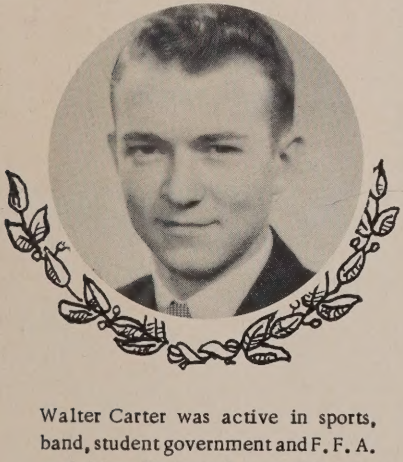
Warren Manuel combined the qualities of leadership and those of class comic. He was president of the Student Council, the Senior Class, the F. F. A. and the Band. He headed the Athletic Association and exhibited great interest in sports. Warren represented the school in every phase of F. F. A. work from judging teams to president of the local chapter.



Charles Taylor was most outstanding in student government, athletics and F. F. A. activities. He was a good student scholastically and quite artistically inclined. Creative work interested him; he served as editor of the newspaper and art editor of the yearbook. A good leader, "Charlie" was most popular with students and faculty.



Sherwood Vance served two terms as president of the Student Council. He was most interested in sports, music, and general school activities. A quiet, mild-mannered young man, Sherwood was a capable leader and amiable person.



Walter Carter was active in sports, band, student government and F. F. A. activities. He served as an able editor of the yearbook and a member of the newspaper staff. Walter worked hard and played hard. He liked an argument, his saxophone, and the girls.

Myrna Dove was second highest scholastically in the class of 1954. She was outstanding in band and glee club activities. As secretary of several organizations, she exhibited qualities of dependability and accuracy. Myrna, the "good citizen" of the "class of 54", was selected by her classmates as most likely to succeed.

Nancy Sonafrank impressed everyone with her willingness to serve, She efficiently acted as assistant photographer for the yearbook. She was also most active in glee club, F. H. A. and class activities.

If the subscribers to the B.D. BUZZER have enjoyed reading their copies as much as the Staff members have enjoyed publishing them, as editor, I feel we may be assured of its success.

We regret that it was necessary to revert to a mimeographed paper for the 1953-'54 session; however, finances made it impossible for so small a high school to support a yearbook and printed paper. In spite of this change, which might have caused enthusiasm to wane, the staff has gone ahead toward the development of a sense of responsibility, a spirit of cooperation and improvement in writing ability.

To Mr. Harry Garber, our Sponsor, we wish to express our deepest appreciation for his patience and helpful suggestions in making the paper possible. Others who well deserve the gratitude of the students at B.D.H.S. are my assistant, Joan Payne; news editor, Mary Newland, feature editor, Eugene Beavers; sports editors, Leonard Wright and Connie Shepherd; and art editor, Shirley Padgett. I am also extremely grateful to the business staff, to the typists and to the reporters for their willingness to work and their efforts to make THE B.D. BUZZER a success.

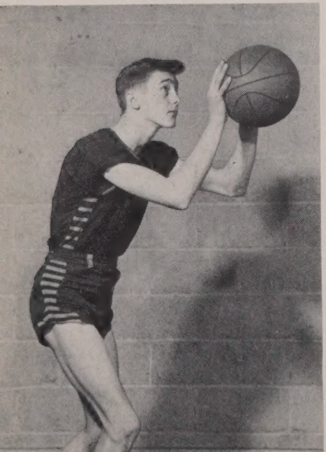
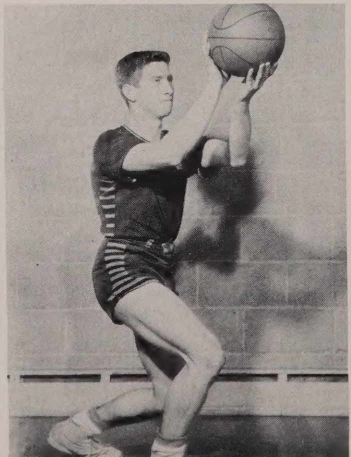
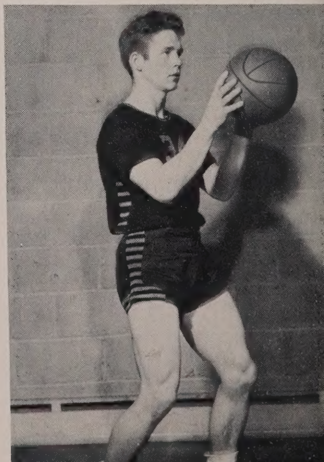
Eugene Beavers, sharpshooting forward of the 1954 edition of the Tigers, accounted for 128 of the Tiger's points.

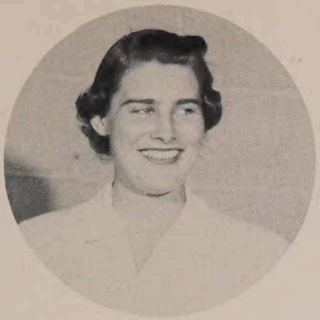
Leonard Wright, guard of the "54 Tigers", proved to be the top playmaker and high point man of the squad.

Arthur Payne, top set shot man of the "54 Tigers", should boost the team next year, for he was only a Sophomore in "54."

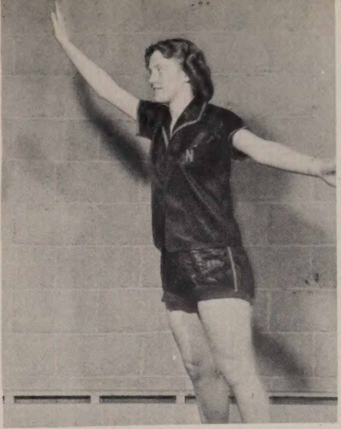




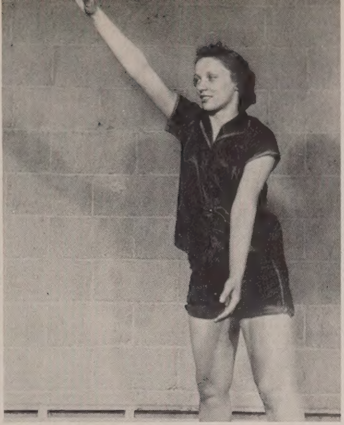




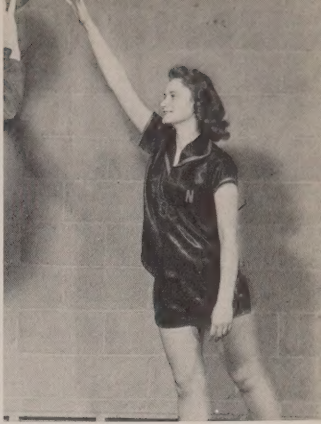
Mrs. Chapman, substitute coach, led the Tigerettes to first place in District III, Group G and fourth in the District III tournament held in Manassas.



Barbara Mauck, guard, led the team in sparking defensive work as a four year veteran.



Geraldine Jones, guard of the "54 Tigerettes", proved to be a top notch player in defensive work.



Elsie Smith, guard, shown in action, was an active defensive player and veteran Tigerette of three years.
